Executive Summary

The 89th General Assembly, during its 2017 session, passed HF 653. Section 86 of the legislation directed the Departments of Human Services (DHS) and Public Safety (DPS) to jointly review private sector alternatives to the performance of state mandated criminal background checks currently performed solely by the DPS.

The Committee Members reviewed the current background check processes in place with the DPS, Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI), the aggregate information collected through an RFI from private companies who perform background checks, satisfaction survey results from current SING users, and information from other states regarding their background check processes.

Based on the discussion and information gathered, the Committee recommends no change to the current background check process. The time required for an official criminal history record check (through the DCI) is less than or equal to the time required for a background check by a private company. The DCI check provides results from criminal history records which are based on fingerprints, the most reliable means of identification. In instances in which some type of background check is required for persons working with vulnerable populations, the reliability of fingerprint-based criminal history records are especially important. To the extent that the Iowa Health Care Association (IHCA) advocates for “broader capabilities” by way of private companies, these broader checks can be lawfully conducted in addition to the check of the more reliable fingerprint-based DCI records, without any additional statutory authorization. When combined with the DCI checks, the background checks by private companies may add value to the process.

Statement of Purpose for the Committee

The 2017 HF 653 legislation instructed:

Sec. 86. BACKGROUND CHECK – PRIVATE SECTOR ALTERNATIVES. The department of human services and the department of public safety shall jointly review private sector alternatives to the performance of state mandated criminal background checks currently performed solely by the department of public safety. The departments shall submit a report to the governor and the general assembly by December 15, 2017, including a description of the process used in reviewing private sector alternatives to perform criminal background checks, the findings from the review, and recommendations for utilizing private sector entities as an alternative to the department of public safety in the performing criminal background checks.

The Committee was charged with exploring private sector background check companies performing criminal history checks as an alternative to those currently mandated to be done by the DCI. While the focus of this legislation was specific to the criminal history check portion of the larger background check process, this report also includes brief references to the entire process of background checks and the evaluation of criminal, sex offender, child and dependent adult abuse histories. The IHCA, which represents over 800 nursing homes, assisted living and residential care facilities, home health agencies, and independent senior living and retirement communities in the state of Iowa, was included in the discussion to identify the issues for study by the Committee.

Current Iowa Code Requirements and Federal Regulations

Current Iowa Code requires that prior to employment in a health care facility, each facility shall request that the department of public safety perform a criminal history check and the department of human services perform child and dependent adult abuse record checks of the person in this state. (See Code of Iowa, Chapter 135C.33(1)(b) and 135C.33(5)(a)).

If it is determined that a person being considered for employment in a facility has been convicted of a crime under a law of any state, the department of public safety shall notify the licensee that upon the request of the licensee, the department of human services will perform an evaluation to determine whether the crime warrants prohibition of the person's employment in the facility or program.

Additionally, for nursing homes, federal regulations require that the facility must not employ or otherwise engage individuals who have been found guilty of abuse, neglect, exploitation, misappropriation of property, or mistreatment by a court of law (See CFR 42 483.12(a)).

Essentially, the licensee checks the potential employee's criminal, sex offender, and abuse history. If there is a record in any of these areas, the licensee may request an evaluation of the record and obtain a decision from the DHS regarding whether the history warrants prohibition of employment in a health care facility.

Description of the Process Used in Review

The committee immediately identified the need to have a representative from the Iowa Department of Inspections and Appeals assist with the review, because they are the governmental body charged with regulating long term care facilities.

Additionally, the committee engaged with the IHCA, which had advocated for the study. The IHCA had issued a Request for Proposals (Appendix A) through their organization regarding a private alternative for required background checks including "pre-employment criminal, dependent adult abuse and other histories background screening services." In addition, IHCA representatives Steve Ackerson and Bill Nutty participated in a conference call on July 19, 2017.

The committee then used state administrative procedures to issue a Request for Information (RFI) to collect information from private sector companies to learn more about their background check processes. Similarly, the committee queried other states regarding their use of such companies and their general background check processes and requirements. (IHCA identified Wisconsin as a state worthy of study, and information from Wisconsin is included in this report.)

The existing DCI criminal history check for long term care and health care entities involves use of an electronic system called SING. (The SING section of this report provides additional information about the process.) The committee issued a survey to SING users in order to gauge their level of satisfaction with the current criminal history check process.

The committee mapped the background check and evaluation process for criminal, sex offender, child and dependent adult abuse histories. That visual is included in the appendix. (Appendix B)

The following are broad conclusions reached by the committee considering all of the information collected:

- Many states are using a finger print based FBI background check process
- Some states allow for vendors to conduct their background checks but those checks are still required to be run through their state's central repository or utilize a finger print based check
- Fingerprint based records are the most accurate
- SING is an efficient method to query multiple data sources
- The majority of SING users are satisfied

Each step in the review process utilized by the committee is described in more detail below with final conclusions stated at the end of this report.

Conference Call with the IHCA

On July 19, 2017, the committee participated in a conference call with the IHCA representatives Steve Ackerson and Bill Nutty. The following is a summary of the conference call.

IHCA stated clearly that workforce issues are a priority for their membership, specifically being able to bring staff on quickly. They sometimes have difficulty competing with other employers in the community who offer employment at similar hourly wages, but are not subject to the same background requirements, which slows the hiring process, according to IHCA members. IHCA indicated a concern that the turnaround time for the current background check process is subject to staffing fluctuations as well as the changing volume of requests. They stated an additional concern that the volume of SING requests has increased along with a broader range of occupations that require checks of criminal history and abuse, and they asserted that increased volume results in greater delays.

IHCA stated their motivation for this legislation was to provide their membership with an option to utilize a private vendor for criminal history record checks, which they assert will result in a better, faster background investigation. They also stated that their goal was to eliminate the evaluation process currently conducted by the Department of Human Services and suggested it could potentially be replaced with another mechanism to evaluate prospective employees such as psychological profiling. Both of these goals are aimed at reducing the time it takes for their members to hire a new employee. The IHCA stated they recognize the need to properly screen employees to protect patient safety, however they also stated there is a balance between that and meeting their staffing needs.

During the discussion concerning potential improvements to the current system, IHCA noted the system utilized in the State of Wisconsin. They asserted the Wisconsin system is a faster, more efficient system and could serve as a model for changes to the system in place in Iowa.

Request for Information (RFI)

In order to review private sector alternatives to the background checks currently performed solely by the department of public safety, the Committee needed to know more about how the private commercial vendors conduct criminal history background checks. We kept IHCA's desire for a system with broader capabilities and faster results in mind as we reviewed submissions. The goal of the RFI was to explore items such as:

- How and where vendors search for criminal history record information
- Whether vendors search on a national level
- Whether the employee/applicant must sign a waiver
- The result response time
- The fees for the service
- How vendors handle errors and positively identify a subject when in question.

The DHS, DCI and DIA published a Request for Information (RFI) on September 18, 2017. Eleven private commercial vendors responded to the RFI. (Appendix C)

Responses indicated:

How and Where

All searches are based on name and date of birth but some require additional information such as social security number, address and gender. If an applicant is identified through an online query then most will conduct a manual search of the court records by sending someone to verify the results in person.

All respondents stated they use Iowa courts online as their main data source for searching criminal history records in Iowa. If an applicant is identified through an online query most will conduct a manual search of the court records by sending someone to verify the results. Three of the respondents will use the DCI for an additional search upon request or as required based on their specific pre-determined package at an additional cost.

Committee Analysis

Iowa courts online is a valuable source of court records for an individual. However, entries in Iowa courts online are based solely on demographic information provided by the subject, not biometric identifiers. Furthermore, there are differences in the data available through Iowa Courts Online and the DCI. Iowa courts online records do not contain completed deferred judgment information. Completed deferred judgments are required to be expunged from the court records and not available to the public without a waiver or through courts online. Deferred judgments require a finding or admission of guilt and are required to be evaluated by the DHS. All components of a person's criminal history are important for the DHS evaluation process.

Since 2002, DCI criminal history records contain over 145,000 records with completed deferred judgments and over 16,000 of those are felony charges. However, there are thousands more on file prior to 2002. Based on the RFI responses, none of the respondents are providing the necessary completed deferred judgment information to their customers.

DCI criminal history records are all based on biometric identifiers, specifically fingerprints collected at the time of arrest. Fingerprints provide positive identification and linking of criminal records to a specific person. This process allows the DCI to positively verify the accuracy of each record as it relates to that person, thereby protecting the subject, the employer, the regulating agency and the vulnerable population with whom the subject will have contact.

National record check

Each respondent refers to a national criminal history record check in various ways. Some refer to it as a nationwide search, a multi-state criminal search, a multi-court jurisdictional search, or a national criminal database search. Others refer to it as their proprietary criminal database. Within the private commercial vendor industry there isn't a consistent term for a national record check.

Each respondent was asked how they determine what state criminal history records to search in a national check. Each vendor uses a different approach to determining what state criminal history records to search, with most allowing the customer to dictate the scope of the search. The vendor will generally rely on the subjects address history to guide them.

One respondent stated “We do not prefer to use state records as they can contain arrest records, dismissed information and information without dispositions”.

Committee Analysis

The terms nationwide search, multi-state criminal search, multi-court jurisdictional search, and a national criminal database search implies the search is being conducted on a country-wide, coast to coast basis. However, these terms are not defined consistently and therefore may be misleading.

Several respondents refer to a “national criminal database”. Aside from the fingerprint-based National Crime Information System operated by the FBI, there is no publicly-accessible national criminal database, regardless of what it is called by a vendor. The FBI fingerprint-based criminal history check may be completed by each state’s central repository. Private commercial vendors do not have access to the FBI’s national criminal history record information. They could, at best, connect with one or more state court records systems, which are not fingerprint-based.

Waivers (Authorization by the employee for the employer to check their background)

All vendors require some sort of a waiver, with most based on the Federal Credit Reporting Agency (FCRA) requirements. Some vendors have general waivers/authorization forms specific to the vendor advising the applicant of the background check or the vendor may require the employer to provide a waiver.

Committee Analysis

The FCRA waiver does not meet the requirements of the Code of Iowa, Chapter 692.2, which allows for the release of certain criminal history data maintained by the DCI, specifically completed deferred judgments and arrests without dispositions older than 18 months. The waiver provided by the DCI is the only acceptable waiver to obtain completed deferred judgment information and arrests over 18 months without a disposition.

In addition, according to Iowa Code section 907.9, Iowa Clerks of Court are required to expunge and therefore not maintain for public view completed deferred judgment information. Iowa Clerks of Court input the information that is available for public viewing through Iowa Courts Online. It appears all of the vendors rely on Iowa Courts Online records when searching for criminal history records in Iowa, unless the customer specifically requests the vendor use the DCI.

As previously mentioned, there are thousands of completed deferred judgments on file with DCI and several thousand of them with felony charges. The DCI maintains completed deferred judgment information and disseminates it upon request with a waiver signature from the applicant, as allowed by law.

Response time

All respondents detailed their response times to be anywhere from 24 hours to 5 days. Each respondent stated the turn-around time was dependent upon the scope of the search requested by the customer. Stated reasons for delays by the respondents were staffing at the county courthouses, general county court delays, holidays and natural disasters.

The respondents were also asked if they were able to provide any results in less than one minute. None of the vendors who responded to the RFI were able to provide an instantaneous result to an Iowa criminal history record query. While some stated they could provide an instant response for a portion of the checks they conduct, none of those involved checks of Iowa records.

Committee Analysis

When a criminal history record check request is submitted to the DCI through SING they receive an instant “no record found” response 74% of the time based on the information provided by the customer. The remaining 26% of responses are a “further research required” message. This message means the DCI will manually review the request to determine if there is a record or not. When required, the DCI will ask the customer to verify initially submitted information such as the date of birth or the spelling of a name. The DCI may also request additional information such as a middle name, former name or social security number. In addition, if the DCI cannot provide a record or no record response based on the provided information, they will ask for fingerprints from the applicant to make a final determination, eliminating false positive or negative results. Fingerprints are often utilized to resolve record disputes such as when an applicant denies that record response is correctly attributed to them. With the ongoing and increasing occurrences of identity theft, the DCI’s ability to confirm identity through fingerprints is significant.

Additionally, SING is available for customer inquiries and responses 24 hours per day, 7 days per week, including holidays. The DCI’s processing time for criminal history record checks is consistent or faster than the processing times provided in the vendor responses. None of the respondents are able to provide an instant response for Iowa criminal history records.

Ultimately, 91% of all requests for criminal history records from the DCI are processed in 2 business days or less. The remaining 9% are delayed due to not receiving requested additional information in a timely manner, the volume of requests or staffing levels.

Fees

Vendors were not asked to provide a specific fee for their services. Each vendor explained the ability to provide fee options as part of a defined package or a package tailored to the customer's specific needs. Vendors were asked if they charged an additional fee for checking multiple names for an individual (i.e. maiden name, former married name, etc.). Each respondent said they charged an additional fee or they offered a higher priced package to include multi-name checks.

In addition, vendor prices vary according to the search conducted. A search of a vendor's nationwide search option may include all names for an applicant for the same price. However, vendor packages other than the nationwide option may require a charge for each additional name searched.

Committee Analysis

All DCI criminal history record checks, outside of SING, require an additional fee for each name checked. All DCI criminal history record checks through SING allow for two names to be checked, simultaneously, for one price. The DCI fee for a DCI criminal history record check is $15.00, as it has been since 2010. The fee for using SING to complete a criminal history record check and query up to 43 databases is $15.00.

Errors and positive identity

All respondents provided a conflict resolution process for applicants to appeal the accuracy of the results of a criminal history record check. Most, if not all, of them are based on the FCRA requirements.

The respondents provided a variety of methods for confirming the identity of a subject as it relates to a criminal history record. Those methods included ordering case files and fingerprint cards, verifying the subject's date of birth, social security number and residential history or comparing applicant signatures.

When asked if they allow for the submission of fingerprints to confirm identity most of the respondents stated they do not submit fingerprints to confirm identity, although four stated they do utilize fingerprints. Of those, only one of them submits them to the DCI with the others handling the process through other means. One of the respondents stated they "discourage the use of fingerprint checks because of the inaccuracies and delays."

Committee Analysis

Fingerprints are the only means to positively identify an applicant and link them to a criminal history record. This cannot be done by name, date of birth, social security number or residential history, nor can it be accomplished with signature comparison. Identity theft can involve any and all records. Only a fingerprint-based identification can confirm identify. The criminal history records maintained by a state central repository are supported by fingerprints collected by law enforcement at the time of arrest. The fingerprints are provided to the FBI along with arrest and disposition information which allows for a positive identification of the subject related to a record.

The FBI is the only official national criminal history record check. Only through the central repository can a non-criminal justice inquiry be made to the FBI's criminal history records.

The DCI is the central repository for the state of Iowa. All criminal history records maintained by the DCI are based on fingerprint identification. When a question of identity arises the DCI can positively confirm whether or not the record in dispute is or is not the applicant's.

Survey of Other States

A survey of other state agencies was conducted from September 5, 2017 through September 29, 2017 to determine if other states allowed the use of 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal background checks for federally-certified nursing facilities. Responses were received from 24 states and summarized for this report. (Appendix D) Those responses indicated:

- 11 of 24 states responding did NOT allow the use of 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal background checks.
- 10 of 24 states responding allowed the use of 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal background checks as long as the vendor utilized either the State's law enforcement agency or a fingerprint-based background check.
- 2 of 24 states responding allowed the use of 3rd party vendors to conduct name-based background checks.
- 1 of 24 states responding did not require criminal background checks.

As part of the Affordable Care Act, grant funding for a fingerprint-based National Background Check Program (NBCP) has been available for several years to encourage and enable states to adopt a national background check program for healthcare workers in federally-certified programs, including nursing homes. This fingerprint-based background check is currently being implemented in 26 states.

Wisconsin was identified by the IHCA as a state having a process the committee should explore. The committee contacted Wisconsin and learned that their law allows facilities to utilize vendors to conduct their criminal history record checks. However, their law also requires the vendor to conduct the same state checks that the facility would have to conduct and using the same sources required, including a criminal history record check through the central repository. Based on current requirements, Iowa and Wisconsin both utilize the same process in regards to criminal history record checks, whether the check is conducted by the facility or by a vendor.

Iowa Single Contact Repository (SING)

The Single Contact Repository (SING) was established as required by the Code of Iowa, Chapter 135C.33.6.a. SING was designed to provide electronic access to data to perform background checks for purposes of employment.

SING provides centralized access to 43 state government databases. Those databases include information from DPS, DHS and DIA. The DCI maintains Iowa criminal history records and the Sex Offender Registry (SOR). The Department of Human Services (DHS) maintains the Iowa Child and Dependent Adult Abuse Registries. When a query is made, SING electronically requests the information from the appropriate database and provides the results to the requester.

To gain access to SING, a user must apply and be evaluated by DCI, DHS and OCIO to determine the authorized level of access to specific databases. Each user is assigned an account number and login credentials, after which, the user has the ability to submit background checks through SING.

The user can complete the background check by entering the required applicant information (name, date of birth and gender). The social security number is valuable but not required. Results are based solely on the information provided by the user. SING directs the information to the appropriate database and electronically responds to the user. The user will be provided an instantaneous criminal history response for all queries. That instantaneous response will be either “no record found” or “further research required”.

- A “no record found” response indicates the DCI database does not contain criminal history data on the subject of the request. (74%)
- A “further research required” response indicates there is a potential match and asks the agency to await final results. (26%)

When no record is found the criminal background check process is complete and the results are immediately posted on SING for user access.

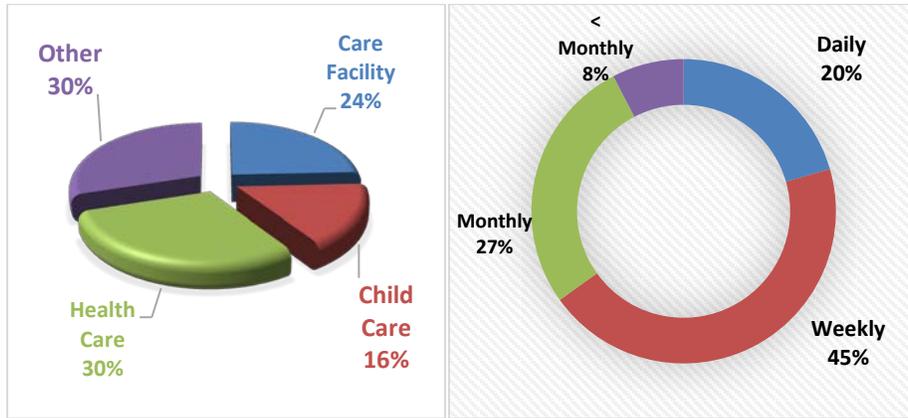

When a “further research required” response is provided to the user, there is a potential match to DCI criminal history data on file. The match may be on one or more of the data elements provided by the user and must be manually researched to ensure an accurate final response. Once the research is complete, the final results are posted on SING for user access.

SING Survey

In an effort to access the thoughts and opinions of current SING users, a survey was made available through the SING website. The survey was specific to the use and timely delivery of criminal history records. The survey, which was posted on the SING site from October 3 – 17, 2017, was accessible only after a user’s log in credentials were verified. Respondents were asked to answer questions designed to capture data in the areas of concerns associated with this project. A total of 338 individual responses were provided. The 338 respondents were from a variety of backgrounds and included frequent and infrequent users.

Each respondent was asked to identify the area of employment for which they use SING. Respondents were asked to select Care Facility, Child Care, Health Care, or Other. Respondents were asked to identify their frequency and volume of use; the average time they are provided an instantaneous response, rate their satisfaction in various aspects of SING use and cost associated with SING. (Appendix E)

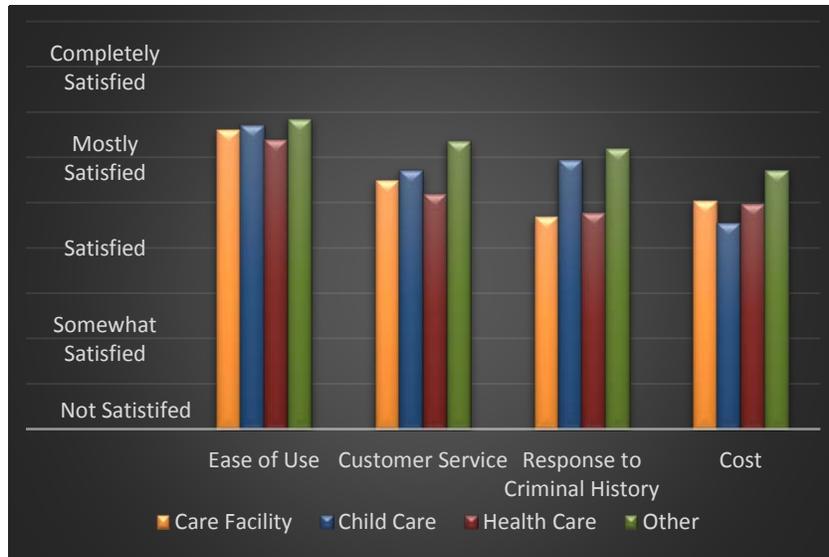

Respondents separated by industry

Responses separated by frequency of use

Number of submission each month by industry

Average number of no-hit (instantaneous) responses by industry

Satisfaction with identified aspects of SING by industry

The DCI strives to provide all “further research required” responses within two working days (Monday – Friday). In FY17, the DCI completed 91% of all “further research required” inquires within two working days. The two-day response time is dependent upon several factors such as the submitter’s response to follow up requests, the applicant’s submission of fingerprints, and DCI staffing. The two-day response can also be attributed to the criminal history of the subject. A subject with a criminal history within the DCI database will be subject to a “further research required” response.

The limited delay associated with a “further research required” response is necessary to protect the thoroughness and integrity of the criminal history record inquiry process. Each criminal history inquiry impacts the industry requiring it, the agency making it, the public placing trust in the process, the vulnerable populations each inquiry is designed to protect, and the individual that is the subject of the inquiry. Recognizing the broad range of areas impacted by each inquiry demonstrates the necessity to assure the accuracy of each inquiry and every result.

DHS Audit of Vendor

In September 2017, DHS Policy staff conducted a review of school district background check processes and their use of a contracted vendor as their designee. Some districts use the Iowa School Finance Information Services (ISFIS) to facilitate their background checks and then ISFIS subcontracts with third party vendors. All hits are then evaluated by the Iowa Board of Education rather than DHS.

General concerns noted in this review that are applicable to this work group are:

1. Some vendors reported doing checks for schools as their designee (as allowed by Iowa Code sections 235A.15 and 235B.6) while those schools reported not using a designee for many or sometimes all of their checks. This may be an indicator that vendors are running non-school checks under their SING account which is authorized for school checks only.

Increased risk for breaches of confidentiality due to vendor lack of understanding or regard for appropriate process, legal access and dissemination.

2. Capacity for misuse of access to run unauthorized checks to create/populate vendor databases and then using those databases to run future checks.

Committee Recommendations

After careful analysis, the Committee recommends making no changes to the current process. The Committee understands the concern, at the center of the HF-653 Section 86 legislation, to be a perceived delay in response time associated with criminal history records check results. The information provided in this report, which was collected from DCI records, the SING survey, and the private commercial vendor survey, show the premium placed on the timely delivery of criminal history records.

The DCI works diligently to provide accurate results in a timely manner with great success. In FY17, the DCI processed 268,761 civilian criminal history record checks. This number includes all requests though SING, US Mail, fax, website submissions, and walk-ins. Of all checks, 244,572 or 91% received a response within two business days of receipt by the DCI. SING submissions accounted for 244,903 (91%) of the criminal history record check requests in FY17.

Being the repository of all Iowa criminal history records, the DCI remains the only provider of instantaneous “no record found” responses, which make up nearly three-quarters of all inquiries. The DCI is also the only provider that has the ability to compare applicant fingerprints to criminal history files for the purpose of confirming identity when questions arise.

On a daily basis, the DCI works with private commercial vendors, who submit criminal history record checks on behalf of public and private entities. While these vendors play a role in a company’s hiring process, it is impossible for the vendors to provide more accurate or a faster certified criminal history record response than the DCI. The DCI strives to provide all criminal history record check responses in a timely manner and acknowledges that the 9% of responses not delivered within two working days is of concern to the agencies and applicants that are awaiting the response to make an employment decision. This delay, however, cannot be solved by adding a private commercial vendor between the agency and the DCI. The timeliest responses are those with the most direct access between the applicant and the DCI. Aside from timeliness, the SING fee has remained the same since 2010. The introduction of a private commercial vendor, while perhaps providing agencies some administrative relief, would certainly add to the cost incurred by each agency.

If the long term care industry or the legislature desires a national criminal history record check of prospective employees, a fingerprint based check through the FBI can be obtained. There is current federal legislation which would allow the long term care industry to run these checks through the National Child Protection Act/Volunteers for Children Act (NCPA/VCA) receive the results directly and provide them to the DHS as part of the current evaluation process. This process is currently utilized by the DHS for their oversight of the child care industry in Iowa.

The DCI is open to all productive conversations to improve the criminal history record check process and deliver a product that is desirable and needed by those seeking the results.

Dear [REDACTED],

May 18, 2017

You are invited to submit a proposal for providing our Iowa Health Care Association (IHCA) members with pre-employment criminal, dependent adult abuse and other histories background screening services. Please submit all responses directly to the following address:

Bill Nutty, Vice President, Governmental and Regulatory Affairs, Iowa Health Care Association, 1770 90th Street, West Des Moines, Iowa 50266-1563, (800) 422-3106.

Background

Iowa requires that when a licensed or certified health care provider wishes to hire a prospective employee, he/she must have a criminal background and dependent adult abuse check using the state's Single Contact License and Background (SING) background check system. If the SING request returns with a "hit" the prospective employee must be evaluated and approved for work through a separate process under the guidance of the Iowa Department of Human Services (DHS).

Originally developed as a criminal background/abuse/certified nursing assistant (CNA) licensure check service for health care workers only, SING is now used to conduct background checks on additional categories of state employees, including education and child care workers. During the July 1, 2015 –June 30, 2016 time period, over 234,000 background check requests were processed by SING.

Also, SING was developed in the 2000s and little has been done to upgrade the system that, combined with the increasing number of check requests, is leading to unnecessary delays in employers receiving background check results.

Proposal

Rather than invest in expensive upgrades to the SING system, it is likely more cost-effective for the state to contract with a third-party vendor specializing in background checks. IHCA seeks responses for a proposed system that would provide health care providers with an option to access a system with broader capabilities and faster results than SING. Ultimately the state may want a vendor to run all required background checks.

Request for Proposal

1. Statement of Purpose To allow an option for IHCA members to request employment background screening for health care workers currently offered exclusively through an outdated, state-sponsored system.

2. Description of Organization The Iowa Health Care Association (IHCA) and its divisions, Iowa Center for Assisted Living (ICAL), the Iowa Center for Home Care (IHC) and the Iowa Society for Post Acute and Long Term Care

3. Medicine (IPALTC) represent more than 800 Iowa nursing homes, assisted living and residential care facilities, home health agencies, and independent senior living and retirement communities that provide long term services and supports to Iowans. Heretofore, the term “Association” shall reference IHCA, ICAL, IHC, IPALTC.

4. Proposal Submission Deadline

All proposals must be received by 11:59 p.m. on June 16, 2017. All bids must be submitted in writing via U.S. Postal Service

5. General Requirements

5.1. The Association reserves the right to accept or reject any bid in its sole discretion and is not obligated to choose to lowest bid.

5.2. Proposals must remain valid for a period of 180 days.

5.3. Please direct all questions and comments to the person indicated above only.

5.4. Collusion between proposal respondents may be considered grounds for disqualification and violate federal antitrust laws.

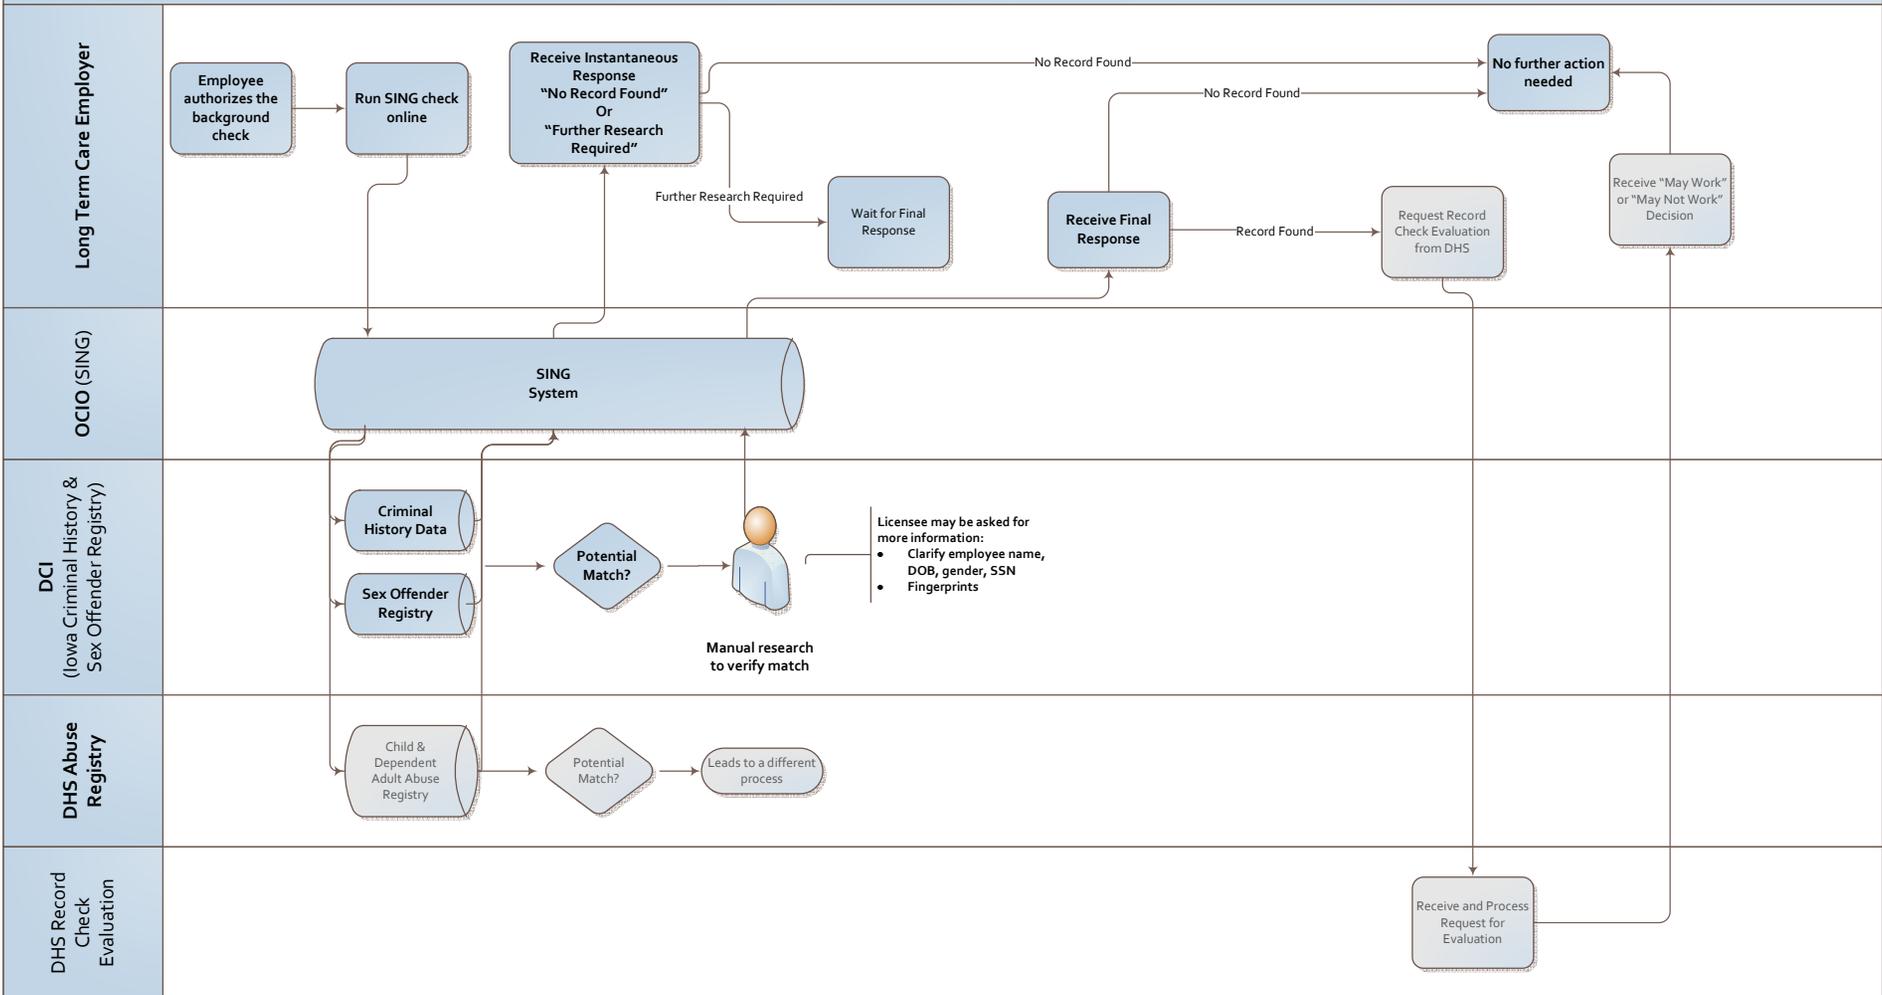

6. Proposals Evaluation Criteria

- 6.1. Proven ability to meet needs.
- 6.2. Turnaround time commitment.
- 6.3. Customer service.
- 6.4. Price.
- 6.5. Supplier personnel.
- 6.6. Understanding of legal requirements.
- 6.7. Infrastructure, including the system for tracking and reporting.
- 6.8. Ease of reading screening reports.
- 6.9. Additional services provided.
- 6.10. Quality and completeness of product provided.

Section 1: Background and Objectives

1.1 Purpose

DPS, in conjunction with DHS and DIA, is researching the potential use of third party screening companies to complete criminal history record checks for the health care industry. The research is mandated by legislative action.

1.2 Background Information

DPS would like to achieve the following objectives:

- 1.2.1 Insure the safety and security of patients, clients, and customers within the health care industry.
- 1.2.2 Protect the privacy and rights of individuals subject to a criminal history record check.

1.13 Public Records and Requests for Confidential Treatment

The Agency's release of public records is governed by Iowa Code chapter 22. Contractors are encouraged to familiarize themselves with Chapter 22 before submitting a Proposal. The Agency will copy and produce public records upon request as required to comply with Chapter 22 and will treat all information submitted by a Contractor as non-confidential records unless Contractor requests specific parts of the Proposal be treated as confidential at the time of the submission as set forth herein AND the information is confidential under Iowa or other applicable law.

1.13.1 Form 22 Request for Confidentiality

FORM 22 MUST BE COMPLETED AND INCLUDED WITH CONTRACTOR'S PROPOSAL. COMPLETION AND SUBMITTAL OF FORM 22 IS REQUIRED WHETHER THE PROPOSAL DOES OR DOES NOT CONTAIN INFORMATION FOR WHICH CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT WILL BE REQUESTED. FAILURE TO SUBMIT A COMPLETED FORM 22 WILL RESULT IN THE PROPOSAL CONSIDERED NON-RESPONSIVE AND NOT EVALUATED.

1.13.2 Confidential Treatment Is Not Requested

A Contractor not requesting confidential treatment of information contained in its Proposal shall complete Section I of Form 22 and submit Form 22 with the Proposal.

1.13.3 Confidential Treatment of Information is Requested

A Contractor requesting confidential treatment of specific information shall: (1) fully complete Section II of Form 22, (2) conspicuously mark the outside of its Proposal as containing confidential information, (3) mark each page upon which the Contractor believes confidential information appears and CLEARLY IDENTIFY EACH ITEM for which confidential treatment is requested; MARKING A PAGE IN THE PAGE MARGIN IS NOT SUFFICIENT IDENTIFICATION, and (4) submit a "Public Copy" from which the confidential information has been excised.

Form 22 will not be considered fully complete unless, for each confidentiality request, the Contractor: (1) enumerates the specific grounds in Iowa Code chapter 22 or other applicable law that supports treatment of the material as confidential, (2) justifies why the material should be maintained in confidence, (3) explains why disclosure of the material would not be in the best interest of the public, and (4) sets forth the name, address, telephone, and e-mail for the person authorized by Contractor to respond to inquiries by the Agency concerning the confidential status of such material.

The Public Copy from which confidential information has been excised is in addition to the number of copies requested in Section 3 of this RFP. The confidential material must be excised in such a way as to allow the public to determine the general nature of the material removed and to retain as much of the Proposal as possible.

Failure to request information be treated as confidential as specified herein shall relieve Agency and State personnel from any responsibility for maintaining the information in confidence. Contractors may not request confidential treatment with respect to pricing information and transmittal letters. A contractor's request for confidentiality that does not comply with this section or a contractor's request for confidentiality on information or material that cannot be held in confidence as set forth herein are grounds for rejecting contractor's Proposal as non-responsive. Requests to maintain an entire Proposal as confidential will be rejected as non-responsive.

If Agency receives a request for information that Contractor has marked as confidential and if a judicial or administrative proceeding is initiated to compel the release of such material, Contractor shall, at its sole expense, appear in such action and defend its request for confidentiality. If Contractor fails to do so, Agency may release the information or material with or without providing advance notice to Contractor and with or without affording Contractor the opportunity to obtain an order restraining its release from a court possessing competent jurisdiction. Additionally, if Contractor fails to comply with the request process set forth herein, if Contractor's request for confidentiality is unreasonable, or if Contractor rescinds its request for confidential treatment, Agency may release such information or material with or without providing advance notice to Contractor and with or without affording Contractor the opportunity to obtain an order restraining its release from a court possessing competent jurisdiction.

Section 2: Requested Vendor Information and Responses to RFI

Where possible, the Vendor should provide specific answer or examples and describe processes as requested. This information will be used to better create follow up interviews, as needed.

Responses to Question about Criminal & Abuse Background Checks

In Iowa, LTC providers are required to conduct criminal and abuse background checks of prospective employees utilizing the Iowa Department of Human Services and Iowa Department of Public Safety databases. An Iowa provider association wants to change state law to allow LTC providers to utilize private vendors to conduct background checks.

Do any states allow LTC providers to utilize 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal and abuse background checks of their employees? If so, are you aware of specific companies that have been used? Have there been any significant problems with utilizing private companies to conduct these checks?

State	Response
AL	Alabama does not require by statute or rule background checks for employees. However, it is our understanding that all certified nursing facilities in Alabama use 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal background checks of their employees. This seems to be working well. Abuse checks are limited to a search of the abuse registry for CNAs and review of professional licensing authority sites for licensed professional employees.
CO	I am writing from the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, Health Facilities and Emergency Medical Services Division. My branch, the Certification, Licensure, Enforcement and Records Branch does the majority of fitness review and background check review for the division. In doing so, we review the background checks conducted by the Colorado Bureau of Investigations and the Federal Bureau of Investigations to determine if the person in question is free of criminal history for the relevant program. Soon, the Colorado Department of Human Services will begin to conduct its own process for vetting individuals that apply to provide direct care to vulnerable adults. Colorado does not use any 3rd party vendors, at least for health facilities and this divisions purposes.
CT	CT has implemented the national criminal background check program and utilizes the State Police and the FBI for it search.
DE	DE does not permit 3rd party vendors to conduct background checks.
FL	In regards to your question concerning 3 rd party vendors for criminal background checks the state of Florida conducts both state and national screenings on employees of LTC providers. The statutory authority under which the criminal history information is made available for licensing or employment purposes limits access to the governmental agency whose ORI is in the request. Consequently, identifying an individual as qualified or disqualified is information that cannot be provided to a private entity acting to facilitate screening on behalf of a licensee whose applicants or employees are being screened by a governmental agency. While Florida law would authorize a designated agent to act on the licensee's behalf, the federal requirements restrict the designated agent from viewing the information described

	above. Therefore, Florida does not allow for 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal background checks.
HI	In Hawaii, several agencies including our's use Field Print. They're a national background check organization. No significant problems using them. Any agency using them should be properly vetted by the SA or other governmental agency such as your criminal justice data center.
ID	Idaho requires all direct staff with direct resident contact to undergo a DHW criminal history check, which is fingerprint based and requires the prints to go through the FBI database. Attached is the link to Idaho Criminal History rules and SNF rules. https://adminrules.idaho.gov/rules/current/16/0302.pdf Nursing Home Rules https://adminrules.idaho.gov/rules/2001/16/0506.pdf Criminal History Rules
IL	There is nothing in Illinois law that would prohibit LTC providers from utilizing 3rd party vendors to conduct criminal and abuse background checks of prospective employees. There have not been any significant problems with utilizing private companies to conduct the checks in Illinois. Criminal background checks in Illinois begin when a provider sends an applicant or employee to be fingerprinted by a third party vendor. The prints are then transmitted to the Illinois State Police for a check of its criminal records database. The results of the records check are transmitted from the ISP to us and recorded in the Illinois Health Care Worker Registry. A link to the Health Care Worker Background Check Code is: http://www.ilga.gov/commission/jcar/admincode/077/07700955sections.html. Section 955.285 of the Code provides the participation requirements for the fingerprinting companies.
IN	In Indiana, third party vendors may conduct the checks. The focus here is not on who does it, but what data source is used (it must be the Indiana State Police system and database), and what specific information is obtained. If the provider has the required info from the required source, we don't care who gathered it.
LA	In Louisiana all criminal background checks must be conducted by the Louisiana State Police office or an approved vendor. The vendor must be approved by the state police. We have not had any concerns with those that are approved
MI	Michigan requires providers to use a State-based system, as a non-criminal justice user, of the Automated Fingerprint Information System (AFIS) through our Michigan State Police and the FBI. A private vendor is used for Live Scan fingerprinting; however, the vendor does not conduct any of the actual checks because Criminal Justice Information System use must meet confidentiality requirements (both at the State-level and FBI). A private entity generally would not have direct access to CJIS results, and likely are relying on some form of "name-based" check that may not be accurate nor establishes

	positive ID of the individual subject to a check. The basis of this move to a private vendor may be related to cost savings. Should CMS move to a regulation requiring fingerprinting, your State may then become in conflict with future federal requirements. If you like, I can forward your inquiry onto the National Forum for Background Checks, which is now a part of AHFSA. The Forum is comprised of States who conduct criminal history checks and may have participated in CMS grants to establish programs for covered facilities to protect vulnerable populations. Some member States may have more information about their experiences with particular private vendors. Here is a link to the Forum (at some point the website will move under AHFSA): http://bgcheckinfo.cna.org/resources/information-sharing-events/national-forum
MN	In Minnesota we have a state law that requires background checks and the background checks are completed by the MN Department of Human Services. We do not have third party vendors used in this state that take place of the background checks done by DHS.
MT	Montana uses a variety of vendors for the background checks for LTC. The larger facilities are usually owned by a corporation, which is contracted with a vendor for the checks. This is usually an out of state company. The smaller communities are contracted individually, with anyone they can find to provide the service. Unfortunately, we have a vast array of vendors for this, and I do not have knowledge of the names of the agencies.
ND	In North Dakota we do allow the LTC facilities to use a third party vendor to conduct background checks. They pay for it themselves and it is not a federal finger print criminal background check but it is an all states names search on public records. One I can think of is called "Verify"
NE	We have State regulations that require the Nurse Aide registry be checked for adverse findings. If adverse findings on the Nurse Aide registry then the individual cannot be hired. We also have State regulations that require the Nebraska State Patrol Registry, Adult Protective Services, Child Protective Services and Criminal background checks be completed. We allow facilities to have private companies do these checks. The facility is responsible to have evidence that these checks are completed and if there are any adverse findings and the facility hires the individual, then the facility needs documentation to show the basis for the decision to hire and how it will not pose a threat to patient safety or patient property. I don't know of specific companies. The only issues we have had is that the facility only gets a one sheet notice back saying

	everything is ok. We have told facilities that they need to show us the evidence the checks have been completed as well as the content/results of the checks. If someone has a criminal background positive finding then the facility needs to show us what that finding was and why it was ok to hire that individual.
NH	Here in N.H our state law requires a Dept. of Safety background check (In my opinion not the best idea as it only covers our State)Our Legislature is looking at it right now,
NM	NM uses a 3rd party contractor to take live-scan fingerprints and submit the prints to the state and federal authorities on our behalf. They do not actually conduct the background checks however. The 3rd party contractor is just the middle man. When we first started our background check program over 10 years ago (NM was one of the first states to get the grant) we were running about 6 months behind on processing due to some personnel issues. At that time our providers wanted us to go to a third party contractor to do the background checks too because it cost them too much to keep staff hired on under supervision until they were cleared. Our statute didn't allow it. If I remember correctly, the FBI wouldn't allow us third party vendors to be responsible for the actual background checks and the appeal process. I'm not sure if that's still the case because that was many years ago. By the way, with live scan, our reviews now takes hours.
OK	I saw where Steve Gobbo replied to you about the Forum work. I chair the Forum and would be happy to discuss options with any of your staff. Steve's right about the limitations on vendor initiated background checks, they are name based. That said, it sounds like your current system is name based so letting a provider contract out to have someone run the checks for them may not be much of an extension for you. You will need to establish the agreed documentary evidence to be maintained by the provider to establish compliance. In Oklahoma, we combine name and fingerprint based checks through a web portal developed by CMS for grantee states. This web portal does the name based check of registries while also routing a provider's applicant for fingerprinting. In Oklahoma, the criminal history report comes to our agency for review and we let the providers know through the web portal the results. Oklahoma has criminal history monitoring so applicants don't have to be reprinted when they change employers. The grant helps states set this up. With this ability, providers are able to greatly reduce the cost by sharing costs across applicants when they change employers. It's a model our providers got behind and have come to appreciate. Third party vendors can be contracted by providers to manage their applicants in our web portal while still providing other value added services such as drivers, credit and workers comp checks.
PA	Pennsylvania has the Older Adults Protective Services Act (OAPSA). It does not allow

TX	for the past 10 years criminal history checks in Texas for Nursing Facility Administrators, Nurse Aides and Medication Aides have been completed through the Texas Department of Public Safety and not a 3rd party vendor. Our facilities can use a private vendor but they have to obtain the background check from The Texas Dept of Public Safety.
