

Family Investment Program (FIP) Participants

It Pays to Work

Will I be better off if I work?

Yes. Working means more money for you and your family.

This chart shows how much your income could go up. The example is for a parent with 2 children.

| | Gross Monthly Pay | FIP | Total Monthly Income |
|---|-------------------|-------|----------------------|
| Not working | 0 | $426 | $426 |
| Working 20 hours a week $7.25 an hour | $580 | $231 | $811 |
| Working 30 hours a week $7.25 an hour | $870 | $133 | $1003 |

Is there other help I can get while I'm on FIP and working?

Yes, you may get:

- Child Care Assistance
- Medicaid
- Food Assistance
- Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC). EITC can give you more take-home pay on each paycheck or a refund when you file your income tax return.

What if I earn too much to get FIP?

If your FIP is stopped because of your earnings you may still get:

- Child Care Assistance
- Medicaid
- Food Assistance
- Earned Income Tax Credit

Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

What is EITC?

EITC is a tax credit for people who work hard and don't make much money.

You could owe less in taxes

AND

Get cash back from the IRS.

Can I get EITC?

You may get EITC if you worked last year (full or part-time):

- Had children living with you and earned less than about $36,000

OR

- Did not have children living with you and earned less than about $12,000

Even if you don't owe income taxes you can get EITC.

How do I get EITC?

File your federal and state tax return.
